

HELIUS MEDIATRaining

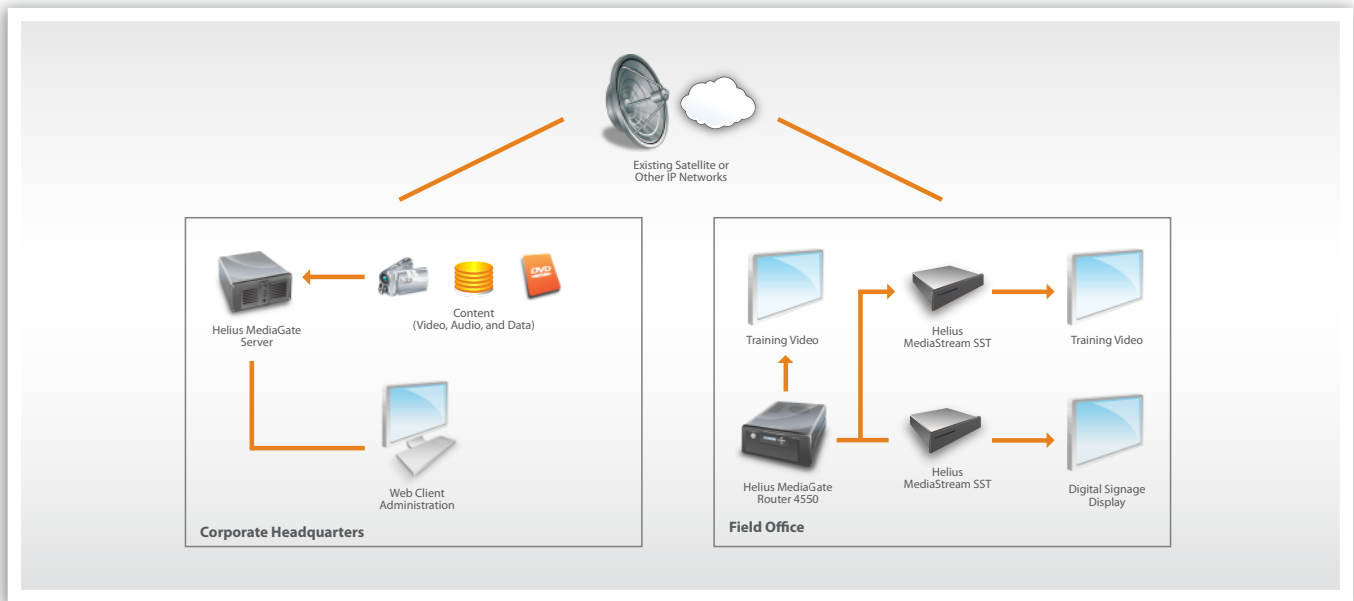

Providing simple direct access to video training content to the individual.

Overview

- Designed as a single student training solution that will display necessary videos that need to be watched depending on the individual logged in.
- All training material watched by an individual is tracked and reported.
- Centrally managed to assign training videos to an individual or group.

Helius MediaTraining software provides simple direct access to video training content to the individual. In many organizations the need to access video based training on-demand is a requirement. From the need to provide proof of certification to the desire to increase the effectiveness of a sales force video has proven to be an effective medium. Helius MediaTraining pack can be used on all of the MediaGate router platforms. Providing the individual with a login and capture of content viewed this system delivers simple straightforward use of stored video files.

Features and Benefits

Organizations have constant need of quality training for their employees. Companies may have high employee turnover and new hires need to be trained quickly and thoroughly. Continued training of employees on new products/services is a must in a fast paced economy. Current methods of training are costly to update and distribute. They also provide little in the way of reporting and verification of completion for management to review. Because of the high cost of traditional training methods, training often only happens once.

Customer Requirement

Organizations have constant need of quality training for their employees. Companies may have high employee turnover and new hires need to be trained quickly and thoroughly. Continued training of employees on new products/services is a must in a fast paced economy. Current methods of training are costly to update and distribute. They also provide little in the way of reporting and verification of completion for management to review. Because of the high cost of traditional training methods, training often only happens once.

Helius Solution

Helius MediaTraining provides the ability to distribute training materials to a vast organization in a low-cost reliable method. Employees simply log into the organization's training network powered by Helius MediaTraining utilizing a remote control. Available training materials are then available for the employee to watch on demand. MediaTraining activity information is automatically collected and transmitted for report generation to assist the organization in ways it sees fit. Training material can be easily managed and updated. Used jointly with the Helius MediaWrite software pack, training material can be distributed using an existing satellite network or LAN based.